Call for proposals for Nigeria

Call Opens: July 23, 2019

Deadline for Submissions: August 23, 2019

1. About the Women's Peace and Humanitarian Fund (WPHF)

Composed of representatives from donors, United Nations entities, and civil society organizations, the WPHF is a global pooled funding mechanism which aims to re-energize action and stimulate a significant increase in financing for women's participation, leadership, and empowerment in peace and security processes and humanitarian response. The WPHF is a flexible and rapid financing mechanism. It supports quality interventions designed to enhance the capacity of local women to prevent conflict, respond to crises and emergencies, and seize key peacebuilding opportunities.

The WPHF has three main functions:

First, it breaks silos between humanitarian, peace, security, and development finance by investing in enhancing women's engagement, leadership, and empowerment across all phases of crisis, peace and security, and development.

Second, it addresses structural funding gaps for women's participation in key phases of crisis, peace and security, and development by improving the timeliness, predictability and flexibility of international assistance. Notably, it will ensure a timely investment in conflict prevention after receipt of early warning signals from women and will accelerate the dispersal of development assistance after successful peace negotiations.

Third, it recognizes that peace cannot be created nor sustained without investment in civil society organizations. Therefore, the WPHF will improve the coordination and policy coherence of the Women, Peace, and Security (WPS) agenda, by investing in strengthening civil society organizations, particularly in grassroots women's organizations, with the required financial and technical support.

The overall goal of the WPHF's theory of change is to achieve peaceful and gender equal societies. Achievement of this goal will require that women are empowered to participate in, contribute to, and benefit from conflict prevention, crisis response, peacebuilding, and recovery.

Since its launch in 2016, WPHF has been supporting over 55 civil society organizations and is present in 7 countries or group of countries.¹ WPHF has granted 10 million USD in total, with another 7 million USD allocated for calls that are currently open or are about to open.

The WPHF is governed by a Funding Board at the global level, which is comprised of four UN entities (currently UN Women, UNDP, UNFPA and PBSO), four donor Member States (currently Austria, Canada, the Netherlands and Norway), as well as 4 Civil Society Organizations (currently International Civil Society Action Network on women's rights, peace and security (ICAN), Global Partnership for the Prevention of Armed Conflict (GPPAC), Transitional Justice Institute and Women Enabled International).

2. About the Spotlight Initiative

A number of regional political and economic bodies, including the European Union (EU), have identified the elimination of violence against women as a key priority in supporting the full realization of women's human rights alongside the implementation of the 2030 Agenda.

The Spotlight Initiative is a global partnership between the EU and the United Nations which deploys targeted, large-scale investments in Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Pacific and the Caribbean, aimed at eliminating violence against women and girls, which is seen as a major obstacle to the fulfilment of women's and girls' human rights and to the achievement of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

The multi-year initiative, announced in May 2017 with an initial investment of EUR 500 million from the EU, focuses on eliminating all forms of violence against women and girls in a focused set of countries across the aforementioned regions, with each region having a specific thematic focus area. The Spotlight Initiative intends to bring the issue of ending violence against women and girls at the front and centre of efforts to achieve gender equality and women's empowerment, in line with the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.²

The Initiative will leverage multi-stakeholder partnerships, galvanize political commitments at the highest levels and contribute to achieving the SDGs (Goals 5 and 16 in particular).

The Initiative's Global Theory of Change entails a comprehensive approach to drive transformative change through the following six Outcomes/Pillars:

- Outcome 1: Enacting and strengthening legislative and policy frameworks
- Outcome 2: Building gender-responsive national and sub-national systems and institutions
- Outcome 3: Supporting evidence-based prevention programmes to promote gender equitable social norms, attitudes and behaviors
- Outcome 4: Establishing and strengthening available, accessible, acceptable, and quality essential services
- Outcome 5: Ensuring quality, disaggregated and globally comparable data
- Outcome 6: Strengthening and supporting women's rights groups and autonomous civil society organizations

The Global Theory of Change is guided by the SDGs and underpinned by a human rights-based approach; the cross-cutting principles of civil society engagement and participation; national ownership and leaving no one behind. In terms of leaving no one behind, the Initiative aims to reach those women and girls who are furthest behind, most marginalized and subject to multiple and intersecting forms of discrimination (including indigenous women, women living with disabilities, elderly women and women in geographically hard to reach areas).

Spotlight Initiative
To eliminate violence against women and girls

Women's Peace & Humanitarian Fund

A United Nations & Civil Society Partnership

In Africa, the Spotlight Initiative's focus is on eliminating sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV) and harmful practices (HP), and addressing their links to sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR).³ The elimination of all forms of SGBV and HP hinges on profound changes in gender and socio-cultural norms. Deeply ingrained beliefs, assumptions and norms about gender roles and sexuality as well as unequal power relations between men and women, drive gender inequality. Entrenched structural obstacles, such as unequal distribution of resources, wealth and power fuel it. Violence against women and girls is a manifestation of this inequality, perpetuated and sanctioned to retain the status quo. Addressing sexual and gender-based violence and harmful practices must therefore consider the continuum of violence experienced by women and girls, its underlying causes as well as its inter-generational impact.

The Spotlight Initiative recently launched eight comprehensive Country Programmes in Africa with a USD 158 million investment in Liberia, Mali, Malawi, Mozambique, Niger, Nigeria, Uganda and Zimbabwe. In 2019, the Spotlight initiative and the WPHF will partner in six countries (the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Liberia, Malawi, Mali, Nigeria and Uganda) to channel quality funding to small, local and grassroots women-led and women's rights organizations, as well as women's funds, contributing to results under Outcome Area 6 of the Initiative's Theory of Change. The grants will focus particularly on ending violence against women and promoting women's human rights and gender equality in peace and security contexts.

The focus of the WPHF Spotlight call will be on women-led, women's rights organizations representing and working on behalf of groups facing multiple and intersecting forms of discrimination, such as those marginalized and excluded due to poverty, ethnicity, disability, age, geography, migratory status, HIV status, among others, which is in clear alignment with the 2030 Agenda and the principle of leaving no one behind in EAW programming.

4. Nature and scope of the Call for Proposals

The WPHF, in partnership with the Spotlight initiative, will fund qualifying projects in the Democratic Republic of Congo, Liberia, Malawi, Mali, Nigeria and Uganda. The projects must focus on one country. Multi-country projects will NOT be accepted.

As the Spotlight Initiative will be funding simultaneous calls for proposals launched through both the WPHF and the UN Trust Fund to End Violence Against Women (EAW Trust Fund) in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Liberia, Malawi, Mali, Nigeria and Uganda, applicants should carefully note the following:

- Organizations may apply either to the WPHF or the UN EAW Trust Fund, but not both. Organizations that apply to both Funds will be disqualified.
- The WPHF will fund applications for grants of between USD 20,000 and USD 200,000 in the aforementioned countries
- Organizations applying for grants between USD 200,001 and USD 1 million should apply only to the UN EAW Trust Fund

The proposal submitted must be aligned simultaneously to the two following Outcome areas:

1) Outcome Area 6 of the Spotlight Initiative's Theory of Change⁴ and associated Outputs and Outcome and Output indicators:

³ Spotlight Initiative Regional Investment Plan for Africa 2018-2023, p.3.

⁴ See Spotlight Initiative Terms of Reference 2017-2023. Annex 1 - Description of the action, p 33.

2) Outcome Area 5 of the Women's Peace and Humanitarian Fund's Theory of Change:

Women and girls' safety, security and human rights are enhanced

5. Grant amount and duration of proposals

Each country will receive approximately 1 million EUR from the WPHF, making the total WPHF envelope for the region EUR 6 million. However, as this is a pooled fund there is no guarantee that sufficient high-quality applications from each country amounting to EUR 1 million per country will be received and the breakdown per country may vary accordingly.

All civil society organizations can apply for 2-year grants of between USD 20,000 to 200,000.

6. Eligibility, application and Selection Process

6.1. Who is eligible to apply and receive funding?

National and local women-led, or women's rights-focused civil society organizations based in/have ongoing activities in Northeast Nigeria (specifically Borno and Yobe States) are eligible to apply. Women's grassroots/local/community-based organizations are particularly encouraged to apply. Joint CSOs projects are allowed and encouraged.

Women's funds are particularly encouraged to apply to expand the reach of the funding to a broader cross-section of civil society.

6.2. Do I need to be a legally registered entity/organization to apply?

The lead applicant organization must have legal status with the competent national authority in the eligible country of project implementation. Women's funds that are not registered in the country of implementation may apply in partnership with a locally registered implementing partner as the lead applicant.

A proof of legal registration (or legal status) is a required attachment for any grant application. Applications without clear proof of legal status will be considered incomplete and will be withdrawn from the application process. Note that articles of incorporation are not proof of legal status.

Implementing partners that are part of a joint proposal, do not have to be legally registered as long as the lead applicant fulfils the requirement of legal registration in the country of project implementation.

6.3. Can my project cover several countries?

No, projects can only be implemented in one single country.

6.4. May I submit more than one application?

No, organizations may not submit more than one application.

6.5. Can more organizations apply jointly?

Yes, joint projects are encouraged. For joint projects, only the lead organization is required to meet the eligibility criteria.

III. Context and Situation Analysis

The context should provide an analysis of the broad political context. It should also contain an analysis of the situation of women/gender equality the Project aims at addressing

IV. Rationale for WPHF's support

This section will provide an overview of other initiatives and projects and gaps at the national level and/or in the geographic area of the project. It will explain the added value the project and how it would complement other initiatives.

It will also contain the problem statement and how the Project intends so solve it (. This section can build on documented evidence, lessons, and good practices of past initiatives in the country, region and locality.

It will explain how the requesting organization(s) has the knowledge/expertise/partnerships to successfully achieve results.

V. Results and Resources Framework

This section describes the results to be achieved by the Project and the means of implementation (narrative). The results will also be formulated in a results framework (using the same format in Annex A).

New indicators must be SMART and contribute to higher level of WPHF's Theory of Change. Key activities that are necessary to produce each output are also defined. Activities do not have indicators. In the "Means of Verification/Sources of Information" column, identify the methods and sources of information that will be used to measure performance against the indicators.

A Resource framework using UNDG's budget categories will also be included (see Annex B).

VI. Partnerships

This section will provide a partners' assessment detailing each partner's role, added value and capacities (UN entities, Government and Civil Society Organizations).

A particular attention will be given to explaining how partnerships and coalition building is strengthened and will help support local, grassroots and/or community women's or women's rights CSOs.

VII. Monitoring, reporting and management Arrangements

This section will describe the management arrangements, as well as monitoring, evaluation (if any), reporting and research activities (including the research projects) that will be developed through this Project, if any). This section will also include a risk analysis and proposed mitigation measures.
